this book argues that media and capitalism no longer exist as separated entities and posits three reasons why one can no longer exist without the other firstly mass media have become indispensable to capitalism due to the media's ability to sell the commodities of mass consumerism media capitalism also creates pro capital attitudes among a target population and establishes an ideological hegemony thirdly media capitalism provides mass deception to hide the pathologies of capitalism which include mass poverty rising inequalities and the acceleration of global warming to illuminate this the book's historical chapter traces the emergence of media capitalism its subsequent chapters show how media capitalism has infiltrated the public sphere society schools universities the world of work and finally democracy the book concludes by outlining how societies can transition from media capitalism to a post media capitalist society
